Art Unit: 2191

1. This Office Action is in response to the appeal brief filed on 6/24/2005.
2. Claims 1-8, 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by “Smart Internet Usage: Installation and Configuration Guide” (SMU), Art of record.
3. Claims 12-18 and 20 are allowed.
4. Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8, 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by “Smart Internet Usage: Installation and Configuration Guide” (SIU), Art of record.

As per claim 1, SIU discloses

a software object creation process providing guidance to a user with respect to creation of a software object by said software object creation process (pp. 15-16, “4.1: using the collector creation wizard”);

and an information communication link to a software object editor, said link providing information with respect to said software object created by said software object creation process to facilitate operation of said software object editor with respect to said software object (pp. 16-17, “4.1.1: Contact configuration server and select collector” and pp. 51-52, “8.1.2 How IOR files enable communication between SIU components”).

As per claim 2, SIU discloses

wherein said software object creation process comprises a software wizard (pp. 15-16, “4.1: using the collector creation wizard”).

As per claim 3, SIU discloses

wherein said software object comprises a data collector (p. 17, “4.1.2: “Collector Type” and p. 34, “5.2: “instantiating a collector”).

As per claim 4, SIU discloses

wherein said software object comprises a plurality of selectable attributes for which said software object creation process facilitates selection of by said user (pp. 35-36, “5.3: Configuring a collector”).

As per claim 5, SIU discloses

wherein said selectable attributes are configurable by said software object editor (pp. 35-36, “5.3: Configuring a collector”).

As per claim 6, SIU discloses

Art Unit: 2191

wherein said selectable attributes must be configured by said software object editor prior to proper operation of said software object (p. 36, “5.4: Running collectors in the background”).

As per claim 7, SIU discloses

a software object configuration option process providing said user with information with respect to configuration of said software object (pp. 29-30, “4.2: Using the configuration and Admin GUT”).

As per claim 8, SIU discloses

wherein said software object configuration option provides selectable activation of said information communication link (pp. 16-17, “4.1.1: Contact configuration server and select collector” and pp. 51-52, “8.1.2 How IOR files enable communication between SIU components”).

As per claim 10, SIU discloses wherein said information communication link is established after completion of said software object creation process (pp. 50-52, “8.1.1. Managing the various forms of the config store and 8.1.2. How IOR files enable communication between SIU components”).

As per claim 11, SIU discloses wherein said information communication link is established in proximity to selection of a software object attribute for which said software object editor provides configuration editing (pp.

Art Unit: 2191

50-52, “8.1.1. Managing the various forms of the config store and 8.1.2. How IOR files enable communication between SIU components”).

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 12-18 and 20 are allowed.
7. Claim 9 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 6/24/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's argument

- 1) SIU does not teach “an information communication link to a software object editor, said link providing information with respect to said software object created by said software object creation process”.

Examiner's response

- 1) SIU clearly disclose an information communication link to a software object editor, said link providing information with respect to said software object created by said software object creation process(pp. 16-17, “4.1.1: Contact configuration server and select collector”, note that the wizard (the software object editor) must be able to contact (communicate with) the SIU configuration server in order to read the component configuration (software object created by the software object creation process) from it and to store the new collector configuration on it).

Applicant's argument

2) SIU does not disclose "wherein said selectable attributes are configurable by said software object editor" as recited in claim 5.

Examiner's response

2) SIU clearly discloses "wherein said selectable attributes are configurable by said software object editor" (pp. 35-36, "5.3: Configuring a collector", note that the configuration and admin GUI are parts of the software object editor).

Applicant's argument

3) SIU does not disclose "wherein said information communication link is established directly after selection of a software object attributes for which said software object editor provides configuration editing" as recited in claim 11.

Examiner's response

3) Examiner disagrees. SIU discloses "wherein said information communication link is established directly after selection of a software object attributes for which said software object editor provides configuration editing" (pp. 50-52, "8.1.1. Managing the various forms of the config store and 8.1.2. How IOR files enable communication between SIU components", note that the link is inherently established directly after the selection of a software object attributes as claimed in order to be accessible to the system).
